

Carrollton

FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1836.

Our Representative, in Congress, the Hon. John Thompson, will accept our thanks for his occasional attentions in extending to us the benefit of his frank.

Abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia.—The remarks of Mr. Ewing, recently delivered in the United States Senate, or a motion of Mr. Buchanan, of Pa. to receive the petitions praying for the abolition of Slavery in the District, but to reject the prayer of those petitions—will be found in this week's paper.—We think Mr. Ewing's views as far as they go, are altogether sound. The motion of Mr. Buchanan prevailed by a large majority.

Congress.—A joint resolution has passed the Senate, which fixes upon the 23d day of May, as the time for adjourning the present Session of Congress, without day. The bill to establish the boundary line between Ohio and Michigan, appears to be at rest, in the House of Representatives.

Expunging.—On the 31st ult. Mr. Morris presented in the Senate, the resolutions passed by the legislature of this State, instructing our Senators to vote for Mr. Benton's Expunging resolutions. Upon presenting those resolutions, Mr. Morris read a written speech, in which he censured his colleague, Mr. Ewing, with much severity. Mr. Ewing's reply has been received, in the National Intelligencer; but we forbear to publish it, until we may be enabled to present to our readers both that and Mr. Morris' speech together.

Col. Crockett.—Some wag, envious of Col. Crockett's immortal fame, lately put about the report, that this eccentric gentleman was no more! We hesitated to publish the report, because we believed it untrue; and we now have the satisfaction to learn that the gallant Col. still "goes ahead." Whatever opinion may prevail as to this individual's eccentricities, all must admit that his public career affords an admirable commentary upon that fundamental principle in our system of government, through which any citizen, however obscure and humble his origin, may aspire to the highest honors within the gift of a free people. Col. Crockett is immortal! the author of the following sentiment can never die: "I would rather be a ruckin dog and belong to a negro, than be the partner of any man."

Meas. Pearce & Christy.—We have been appointed by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, together with Arnold Barker, of this county, Commissioners to effect the sale or leasing of the unsold part of Sec. 16, in T. 14, of Range 6, in Union township. And as it is made the duty of the Assessor of this county, to take the vote of the electors of said township, we request you to publish for the information of the Assessor, and the electors, the following section of the act: "Sec. 2d. That previous to such apportionment, as aforesaid, the Assessor of Carroll county shall, between the 1st day of March, and the 25th day of May next, either in person or by deputy, call on every person resident in said original township 14, having the qualifications of an elector, and take his vote for or against the sale of said quarter of said section, in a book to be by him provided for that purpose, carefully noting in one column those who voted in favour of, and in another and separate column, the name of those who voted against said sale; and make return of the vote so taken, to the Commissioners and Auditor of said county, on the 1st Monday of June next."

GEO. DAVIS.
SAMUEL SEMPLE.
N. B. We have received a certified copy of the act.

The legislature of Mississippi adjourned on Saturday, the 27th of February, to the first Monday in January next.

The incorporation of many banks and rail roads were made during the session—in all to the amount of seventeen millions of dollars. One of the most important bills passed is that establishing a penitentiary.

A SLICE CUT OFF.—A portion of Arkansas territory, it is rumored, has gone over to Texas, and sent delegates to the convention of the latter.

Rail Road Accident.—On Wednesday morning last an accident occurred on the Lexington and Ohio Rail Road by which two persons were killed and several others severely wounded, two of whom are not expected to recover. The locomotive with a train of cars, precipitated by some as yet not known cause to the bottom of one of the high embankments, about 2 miles from Frankfort. There was but one passenger out of fifteen or twenty who escaped uninjured.—Cincinnati Whig March 21.

HORRID MURDER!
On the evening of the 30th March last, a man named John Gull, living near Bethelton, in this County, went to the house of Jacob Fisher, a respectable farmer, near the same place, and stabbed him (Fisher) with a butcher knife, while he was asleep. He then went to Bethelton and after attempting to kill several others, one of whom he stabbed with the knife, but not dangerously, was taken. He is now in jail, in this place. It is thought that Gull was insane.

Fisher died on Sunday morning following.

Murder.—A Brookville (Indiana) paper says, that a most horrible murder was committed on the 27th ult. near Liberty in Union county, Indiana. A man by the name of Isaac Heller, murdered his wife and three children. The fatal instrument with which he perpetrated the deed was an axe. At one blow he split his wife's head asunder, and then deliberately severed his children's heads from their bodies. The reason assigned for this unnatural act, was that "they were likely to become a county charge and that he would rather see them in their present situation." He is now confined in jail at Liberty to await his trial. The man is supposed to be insane. The circumstances attending this horrible transaction, afford a striking facsimile of the tragedy recently enacted in Cincinnati by the murderer Cowan who in the same brutal manner destroyed his whole family.

WAYNESBURGH HOTEL.
The undersigned respectfully announces to his friends and the public generally, that he has taken, for a term of years, the tavern stand heretofore in the occupancy of Daniel Sheaffer, and known as the Waynesburgh Hotel, in the town of Waynesburgh, Stark county, Ohio—where he is prepared to give prompt and unremitted attention to the comfort and general accommodation of travellers and others, who may favour him with their patronage. The Hotel is spacious and convenient, and its furniture entirely new. Nearby, there is an extensive area reserved for the reception of Carriages, Wagons, &c.—and in this, there is an everflowing fountain of the purest water, conducted by hydrants from the adjacent hills.—His Board shall be spread with the best the markets afford; and his Bar always furnished with every necessary refreshment. His Stabling is large, and will always be attended by careful and active hostlers. The undersigned is determined to render his establishment the comfortable abode of all who may please to give him a call.

Periodical Literature.
CINCINNATI MIRROR.
Edited by W D Gallagher & T H Shreve.
A NEW VOLUME JUST COMMENCED.
CIRCUMSTANCES connected with Mr. Marshall's private arrangements, having induced him to discontinue 'The Buckeye,' that publication, in accordance with the wish of a large majority of its subscribers, will be issued hereafter under its old title, the CINCINNATI MIRROR.
The undersigned, in becoming the proprietors of this extensively circulated periodical, have the gratification of stating to the old friends of the 'Mirror,' and to the more recent subscribers to the Buckeye, that Messrs. William D. Gallagher and Thomas H. Shreve will resume its editorial management. In mentioning the names of these gentlemen, whose industry and literary qualifications are so well known, the publishers deem it superfluous to expatiate on the future character of the work; under their superintendence the CINCINNATI MIRROR attained its thousands of subscribers, and was recognized by most literary periodicals, in the union, as inferior to none of its contemporaries;—incontestable proofs of the estimation of their merits, and of the appreciation of Western Literature.

From the 'Salutary' of the editors, on resuming their duties, we make the following extract: 'Gentlemen of means having become its proprietors, one difficulty which has always attended the Mirror, will hereafter not exist. We therefore bespeak for it at this time, knowing that it has suffered somewhat in public estimation by the several phases which it has presented within a few months, the attention of the western community: It shall be our endeavor to inspire general confidence, and merit general support! In calling matter for the selected part of the Mirror, we shall diligently ransack the popular magazines of the day, and the various new books that are constantly issuing from the teeming press, and we shall have, in an especial eye to variety and richness. In the original department, we have secured the constant assistance of a number of gentlemen of education, talent and experience as writers. With us, one important aim will be, to bring out and foster the unknown unencouraged literary talent of the West. The cause of Western Literature we have long had at heart; and we have made some sacrifices and labored hardy, and we trust not ineffectively, to arouse slumbering energies, and elevate the character of the literature of this section of the great Union. Anonymous correspondents shall receive from us respectful attention—but as we intend to make the CINCINNATI MIRROR a correct representative of the literary Character of the West, we must be allowed the privilege of rejecting common place tales, peevish essays, lame verses, and credulous of all kinds.'
The arrangements which have been entered into, will place the CINCINNATI MIRROR under better auspices, than have attended it at any time since the period of its commencement. It will contain a larger quantity of reading matter than heretofore, and will be printed on superior paper, with entirely new brevity type. Every number will be furnished with a handsome cover; and the work will be issued practically every Saturday morning, and be sent by mail the same day to distant subscribers.
TERMS:—Three Dollars per annum, if paid in advance, or Three dollars and fifty cents, if payment be delayed six months.

N. B. The first number of the 5th volume of the Mirror was published on the 1st instant. Those persons who may order the work, within two or three months, will please say whether they wish the numbers from the beginning of the volume. A handsome and well filled cover is published with each number. Between one and two pages of this is taken up with a Business Directory, in which may be found the names and locations of the principal business men of the city.
